DEATH OF MRS. ROFF

DEATH WAS DUE TO PARALYSIS.

Stricken by paralysis a year ago and again ten days ago, Mrs. Sarah A. Roff, wife of Francis L. Roff, passed away this morning at 8:45 o'clock at the residence, 732 East Maple St. The end was exp. calm, but nevertheless caused a shock of sorrow to relatives and many friends.

Mrs. Roff was greatly loved and esteemed by neighbors and friends. She was devoted to her home, and when able to do so was an active worker in the Baptist church, which she was identified from early life. With many womanly graces, she was a true and devoted home maker, and her deeds of charity were many, but of the most unostentatious kind. The distressed always found comfort and aid at her hands. She performed well all the duties of life and entered into the rest promised to those who serve the Lord.

Sarah A. Bryant was born in Breckenridge county, Kentucky, 72 years ago last March 26, and on October 6, 52 years ago she was married to Francis L. Roff, her father, the late John Bryant, a Baptist minister, officiating at the wedding.

Twenty-eight years ago Mr. and Mrs. Roff came to this city and he has since been employed at the Howard shippers as a general messenger and assistant about the office. He stands high in the confidence of Capt. E. J. Howard and others identified with the famous yards.

Mrs. Roff is survived by three brothers, Samuel Bryant, of Lawrence, Kas.; John and Abraham Bryant, of Fifty Station, Ky. There are two sisters, Mrs. Mollie Smith, widow of the late Spicer Smith, of Fort Fulton, and Mrs. Margaret Dillinger, of New Albany. One foster son, James S. Hall, is an engineer on a Government dredge boat, stationed at St. Louis, Mo. There are a number of nieces and nephews here and in New Albany.

The funeral was conducted Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.—Jeffersonville Star.

H. H. KEMPER

Was Elected President of The Citizens Bank of Minot, a New Organization Founded With $50,000 Capital.

The organization of the Citizens Bank of Minot was completed this afternoon and this evening, the papers of incorporation will be sent to the Secretary of state.

The bank is organized with a capitalization of $50,000, and the following is a list of the stockholders to date.

Peter Ehr, H. H. Kemper, R. H. Board, A. M. Thompson, W. H. Belghart, A. M. Hardaway, Henry Auslander, Geo. Ehr, Ferdinand Ehr, John Lynch, all of Minot, and Ralph R. D. Ward and F. L. Mackie of Garrison.

Mr. Ward is old and time and very well to do as a rancher, who was born near Bismark. He is interested in the First National bank, of Garrison, largely, Mr. Mackie is a wealthy Garrison merchant.

The bank will be open for business sometime between Sept. 1 and 15, it is expected. The bank will occupy the Peter Ehr block at the corner of Main and Second streets, in the quarters now occupied by the Renwald Land agency which will take up quarters in the basement of that block.

The front of the building will be remodeled, and Mr. Kemper will leave within a day or two for the east where he will buy modern fixtures for the bank. The bank has secured a space 25x100 feet.

H. H. Kemper was elected president and Peter Ehr, vice president. The President, Mr. Kemper, has had many years' experience as a banker. Entering a bank as subclerk immediately after he finished school, he has remained in the business ever since, and has held every office up to and including president. For seven years prior to the first of April, he had charge of the First State Bank of Irvington, Ky. He learned of Minot through his brother-in-law, Dr. Hardaway, looked the field over carefully and decided that this was an excellent location for another banking institution. Mr. Kemper is a pleasing gentleman and as the head of the Citizens' Bank of Minot, he ought to make a splendid record. He has gathered about him some of the best known and strongest bankers in the city. Peter Ehr, who is slated for vice president, is one of the largest stockholders and he is rated as one of the wealthiest men in this part of the state. The other stockholders are all prominent business and professional men and the new bank will start off with the brightest prospects and the good will of everybody. There is an urgent demand for money throughout the northwest at the present time, and the bank will no doubt be able to do its share of the business.

WAKENING UP

Is Cloverport--A Lot Sale Will Take Place On The Hill August 27.

R. L. Paull, of Glasgow, was in the city Monday arranging for his lot sale which is advertised in the News this week. Mr. Paull is a well-known real-estate man of Eastern Kentucky. AGED CITIZEN

Dies Near Garfield Last Wednesday--Byron Bandy Reaches Age of Eighty-six

Word has been received here of the death of Byron Bandy, age eighty six years. He was born near Garfield, where he lived. He died there August the tenth.

Mr. Bandy was a farmer all his life and a highly respected man with many close friends. In 1843 he was married to Miss Caroline Jordan, who died three years ago. He belonged to the Cumberland Presbyterian church sixty-eight years. The following children survive: R. S. Bandy, Mrs. Elizabeth Triplett, Sybil Bandy, W. L. and J. L. Bandy, of Reedfield, Iowa, and Mrs. Letitia Dowell.

Aunt Harriett, the oldest woman who has lived at the Bandy home for sixty-five years, was remembered by Mr. Bandy in his will.

BASE BALL

At last it ceased raining and those Pumpkin Rollers got to play a game on their own lot. They wish now that it had rained. The game was a rather burlesque affair in which the Pumpkin Rollers took the leading part. Fuchs and Winchell took the leading roles. Fuchs bled after a few innings and Winchell was sent to the rescue and it was all that he could do to keep from availing. To make a long story short Lewisport, by fast all round ball playing, together with the twirling of Fuchs, took the long end of a 10 to 5 score.

That Dispenser on the packet, Lizzie Bay certainly slipped one over on a bunch of Cloverports' sports' Saturday night.

Irvington has sent out a challenge, Squelch 'em someone.

Anyhow, ignorance was bliss.

It has been so long since local fans have had a good game that they would hardly know how to act if the boys should happen to have one.

Wonder what happened to Rhodelia?

They can all "come back" to the barbecue.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank our friends for the kindness shown us during the illness and death of our father, Mr. Byron Bandy.

Holding Revival

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Farmer left Monday for this city. The Davies county to hold a ten days revival.

COLORED CHURCH

Going Up With Rapidity After Standing Still for 10 Years-- Started 20 Years Ago.

E. B. Williams, colored, leaves for Conference September 15, with a happy heart from the fact that the little Zion church in Eastland is now roofed and near completion.

This church was started twenty years ago and for ten years not a nail was driven in it. Two years ago its present pastor started to finish the building and is meeting with fair success. The colored people have worked hard on it, and have spent much time and money to build their house of worship. They pay for every piece of material as they go along and do not owe a dollar. The church is now nearly finished and will be ready to receive the people.

INTERESTING CROP EXPERIMENTS

Developed at Hardinsburg by Members of the Kentucky Experiment Station and United States Department of Agriculture.

Poor Soil Was Used

General farm crop experiments have been conducted jointly by the Kentucky Experiment Station and the U. S. Department of Agriculture at Hardinsburg for the past two years. Results are rather indefinite as yet and absolute conclusions can not be drawn. However, some interesting things have been brought out and will be presented for the benefit of Breckenridge county farmers.

A poor light clay soil of a wet nature was selected in the suburbs of Hardinsburg. The field is thoroughly infested with insect pests, especially the wire worm which is particularly destructive to tobacco. The pest bores into the stalk below the surface of the ground and continues its way downward into the roots, eating out the center of the stalk. After such an attack the plants have very little vitality to grow and remain very much the same size as when transplanted. Late in the season the plants may recover to some extent and be able to make, at the best, an indifferent yield. Since the pest works entirely underground, remedies are very difficult to apply, in fact there is no known way to control it. It is noticeable this year that plants in some other crop and then followed by tobacco better results are obtained. The cultivation given the preceding crop seems to have the effect of ridding the soil of the pest.

On account of wet weather conditions prevailing last year and insect injuries, the yields secured from the use of fertilizers were not as large as they should have been. The results of one year's work on tobacco are given for what they are worth, subsequent investigations may alter conclusions to some extent. The experimental field consisted of two acres, one of which received air slacked lime at the rate of one ton per acre. The yield of tobacco was not materially influenced by the application of lime. The same results have been observed in our experimental fields in Christian county. A similar experiment is being conducted this year at Lexington in which an adverse effect from lime can be noticed. It seems fairly safe to say that under general conditions in Kentucky little results can be expected from the use of lime on tobacco. Experiments in Virginia tobacco fields show marked advantages from the use of lime. The function of lime in such cases seems to be to render the nitrogenous matter available. The inference should not be drawn that lime will not effect the yield of grain and clover crops especially the latter. The field is to be sown in clover and the results will be observed.

The impression is general that potash is the element most needed in tobacco production. This is perhaps due to the fact that a large amount of potash is found in the ash of the tobacco plant. The grower readily infers that this ingredient must be supplied if a large crop of tobacco is to be expected. The fact that the soil may be rich in its stores of potash is not taken into consideration. The composition of the soil rather than the composition of the plant is the factor that influences production.

It is interesting to make a comparison of the elements when used alone, to determine which is the most needed in our soils. Dried blood was the source of ammonia or nitrogen, sulphate of potash furnished potash, and acid phosphate phosphorus. The following table gives the results from the use of the fertilizers and the increase in yield as compared with the "no fertilizer" plat.

Plat Fertilizer	Amount per A.	Yield Increase per A.
1 Dried Blood	400 lbs.	524 lbs.
2 Sulphate of Potash	200 lbs.	733 lbs.
3 Acid Phosphate	800 lbs.	520 lbs.
4 No Fertilizer		713 lbs.

It will be observed that potash produced an increase of only 20 pounds, while acid phosphate increased the yield 207 pounds. Some might think that the difference could be accounted for in the fact that only 300 pounds of sulphate of potash was used whereas 800 pounds of acid phosphate was applied. The maximum amounts of both materials were used, if a greater amount of either had been applied harmful results would possibly have followed. When potash was added to acid phosphate the yield over phosphate alone was 45 pounds per acre. Sulphate of potash added to dry blood produced 40 pounds per acre less than dried blood alone. The results clearly minimize the use of potash and emphasize that of phosphates.

Some of the highest yielding plants as compared with the average of the no fertilizer plats are given in the table below.

Plat Fertilizer	Amounts per A.	Yield Increase per A.
9 Acid Phosphate	800 lbs.	1131 lbs.
10 Dried Blood	400 lbs.	1100 lbs.
11 Acid Phosphate	400 lbs.	1100 lbs.
12 Sulphate of Potash	100 lbs.	1100 lbs.
13 Stable Manure	5 tons	1100 lbs.
Average of No. 9-13		1100 lbs.

ditional application of fertilizers. The plant food remaining after the tobacco crop was produced being depended upon to raise the wheat. The same comparisons will be made with wheat as were made on tobacco with reference to the elements when used alone to determine which is the more important in wheat production.

Plat Fertilizer	Amount per A.	Yield Increase per A.
1 Dried Blood	400 lbs.	16.4 bu.
2 Sulphate of Potash	200 lbs.	16.5 bu.
3 Acid Phosphate	800 lbs.	18.5 bu.
4 No Fertilizer		12.8 bu.

The results favor the use of phosphates for wheat as well as tobacco. When sulphate of potash was added to acid phosphate the yield was 18.1 bushels per acre. Acid phosphate and dried blood gave a yield of 17.6. It will be noticed that neither element added to acid phosphate was quite able to equal the phosphate alone. However, applications of all three elements returned yields practically equal to phosphate alone. The following table gives the yield of some of the best plats in comparison with plats receiving no fertilizer.

Plat Fertilizer	Amount per A.	Yield Increase per A.
3 Acid Phosphate	800 lbs.	18.6 bu.
9 Acid Phosphate	800 lbs.	18.6 bu.
10 Dried Blood	400 lbs.	18.6 bu.
20 Stable Manure	5 tons	17.5 bu.
Average of No. 3-10		18.5 bu.

The wheat was of excellent quality, the grain was large and of a amber red color. Samples from each plat with their respective yields are on exhibition at Kincheloe's drug store in Hardinsburg.

The difference in the appearance of the wheats while growing in the field was quiet marked at times. The phosphate plats produced a much lighter, paler colored straw than the plats receiving dried blood, potash or no fertilizer. Many inferred that the yield would not be so good on these on account of such color, but the final results did not bear out the idea. Where dried blood, on ammonia or nitrogenous fertilizer was used, a very dark, rich green straw was produced, but this feature seemed to have no particular relation to high yield.

Democratic Ticket

For Appellate Judge
WARREN E. SETTLE

For Congress
HON. BEN JOHNSON

WELCOME TO OUR CITY.

For the ninth time we extend our welcome to those who come to Cloverport tomorrow to attend the Masons annual barbecue. We are expecting a large crowd of home-comers and visitors. Thousands of invitations have been sent to personal friends, and extensive preparations are being made to receive those who have already sent in their acceptance. Skillman's Grove, "the prettiest natural park in Kentucky," is in all readiness for the occasion, and every arrangement for this great event has been completed to make it the most glorious of all our previous barbecues. If you have not yet made your plans to come, do so, and if you have, be certain not to miss the train, for we all will be at the station to meet you in the morning with glad hands and a brass band.

The Republican Convention which met at Leitchfield last Saturday, nominated the Hon. J. Allen Dean, of Owensboro, as their candidate for Judge of the Court of Appeals from this district. Mr. Dean was an easy winner over Hon. George W. Jolly, his opponent. Allen Dean is a Breckenridge county man, and comes of a Democratic family: his father, Wm. J. Dean, being one of the leading farmers of the county in his lifetime, and a staunch Democrat. Mr. Dean is therefore a new convert to the Republican faith. There are many Democrats in this county to whom Mr. Dean is personally known, but they will not support him over Judge Settle, the present incumbent. Allen is a fine lawyer and a clever, all-round man, but the News doesn't think he can get to the Court of Appeals on this route.

Judge J. J. Hill, of Henry county, a farmer and tobacco raiser, made a series of splendid talks on the tobacco situation and pooling in this county last week. Judge Hill's talks were eminently practical and to the point. 'Tis a pity that more farmers and tobacco growers were not out to hear him. Those who had the pleasure of hearing him were thoroughly converted to the pooling plan. Judge Hill is a pleasant, earnest speaker, free from abuse of those who differ from him. He is for the farmer, first, last and all the time, and says the only way for the farmer to get living prices for his tobacco is to make the pool so tight and strong that no trust or combination of trusts can break it.

For the past two or three weeks there has been quite a demand in this city for houses that people could rent. There is not a vacant house in this city, and it becomes the business of men who have their money stored in the banks to haul it from cover and invest it in property that will pay. We need several new cottages in this city at once.

Mr. Cornell, an oil and gas expert from Oklahoma, has leased 4,000 acres of land in Daviess county. We are sorry that Daviess county has shown no signs of either oil or gas in her boundary. If the gentleman will come a little higher up, he can find both articles in Breckenridge.

The tobacco crop in this county will not be a good half of last year's crop. We have been over a large portion of the tobacco-growing sections, and we know this from our own observation. It's a poor, spindling, sickly looking crop, and with a good season from now on will not improve it.

The Republican party is looking toward Col. Roosevelt for help in the doubtful States where Congressmen are to be elected this fall, but the wage-earners can see no relief ahead from a party that has made the cost of living about double what it was a few years ago.

A. M. Bennett, of Union Star, has the finest crop (3½ acres) of tobacco so far as we have seen in the county. Its big, broad elephant-ear leaves is good to look upon.

It is the belief of the physicians that Mayor Gaynor, of New York, will recover from the bullet wound inflicted on him last week by a would-be assassin.

The Masons are arranging for a great day and a great crowd on Thursday.

STORIES WRITTEN

While The Press Thunders

BY LOUISE

A Valued Heirloom

The other day Mrs. L. B. Perkins showed us a very unique piece of jewelry that was given to her while she and Mr. Perkins and their niece Miss Virginia Harris, were visiting at "Walnut Hills," his old home in Louisa county Virginia. It is an old fashioned pin filled with locks of light and dark brown hair and is over a hundred years old. The jewel first belonged to Mr. Perkins' great grandmother, Mrs. Mary Grinstead, then to his own mother and after her death, it fell into the hands of his aunt, Mrs. Johnson. Forty years ago the latter lost it. While she was tying her bonnet strings together, she dropped it out of an upstairs window that she was standing near and it fell between the logs of the house. Afterwards the house was weatherboarded and no thought was given to the jewel until this summer when Mr. Johnson, who now lives at the homestead, told Mr. and Mrs. Perkins about it. Someone suggested that a search be made for the hidden treasure and if it were found Mrs. Perkins should be honored with the gift. Weather boarding was torn from the house and after a diligent search no trace of the pin could be found. Mrs. Perkins was deeply disappointed. The next day Mr. Johnson took another hunt and found the sparkling treasure in a bundle of trash that dropped from the house during the hunt. This is just one of the interesting incidents that happened during the Perkins visit to Old Virginia. They had a visit that is pleasant to hear about and brought home several attractive souvenirs.

It was planned by Mr. Perkins' relatives to hold their reunion every summer at "Walnut Hills." Around this old homestead hovers many memories of long ago and the Perkins family of Virginia are proud of the place. Mr. Johnson, who lives there and has charge of the home, keeps it beautiful and always heartily welcomes the "children" back.

Last week when we were taking an automobile trip with our cousin, Mr. C. Lee Cook, of Louisville, we had the opportunity to peep over Col. Henry Watterson's fence and get a glimpse of his home on Watterson's Lane in Jefferson county. The house is built in the shadows of large trees and stands quite a distance from the road.

While we were going through Jefferson county we spied a printshop and there was no peace for that party until they let the girl from the News office jump out of the machine and pay her respects to the Jeffersonian's, the excellent weekly owned and published by Mr. J. C. Alcock and his brother. The home of the Jeffersonian's is well equipped and everybody there seems to be busy and in love with their "happy print shop." These two incidents of our trip fascinated me, for any place with a drop of printers ink on it always does.

Wednesday Miss Katherine McGovern, of Victoria, remembered us with a box of luscious peaches. Katherine is one of the best friends the News has and she is a very young girl to be so thoughtful and generous.

When seen at the jail, Frazier would not discuss the case. He said he had just returned from Cloverport.—Sunday's Courier Journal.

ROUND OF PLEASURE

Ahead of Visitors to Kentucky

State Fair.

GRAND FREE ATTRACTIONS

Market Successfully Soured for Best Offerings in the Amusement World.

"Pioneer Days in Kentucky" to Be Featured as the Great Pyrotechnic Spectacle.

American people must have amusement, and no set of men recognize the fact better than the officers and managers of the Kentucky State Fair. The round of pleasure at the eighth annual state fair, to take place in Louisville September 12-17, will be as nearly continuous and complete as it is possible to make it.

Secretary J. W. Newman has this season paid particular attention to what may be described as the purely amusement features for the forthcoming state fair. A contract has been closed with the United Pairs Booking Company to supply "The Pass" with the most novel and up-to-date attractions that could possibly be assembled. The usual precautions have been taken to insure the correct moral tone and cleanliness of the individual shows. This amusement feature will be on such a large scale this year that it was necessary to enlarge the area heretofore utilized as "The Pass," and that justly famous avenue of mirth will be arranged in the shape of an immense crescent with every inch of space along the avenue occupied by some new amusement conception.

The list of "free attractions" is a splendid one. These offerings of the fair management proved so popular last year that care was taken this summer to close contracts with the best amusement market has to present. A star feature will be the Wakahana Japanese Troupe, consisting of a dozen or more tumblers and jugglers from the "Land of the Rising Sun." The Japs will compete with Madame Louise's Monkey Show, Fink's Trained Mules, Morris and Morris, expert timers, and Slacks and Brides, high wire artists. Davenport's Fancy Horses are expected to carry off the highest honors, however, among the free attractions. This entertainment is nothing short of a three-ring circus, which will be presented each afternoon and evening.

The scene of spectacular display will be enjoyed each evening in the fireworks exhibition. A contract has been closed with the world-famous Fain, and that noteworthy is at work on a program designed especially for the Kentucky State Fair. The feature of the fireworks display each night will be an original pyrotechnic production entitled, "Pioneer Days in Kentucky." It is said that the services of over 150 men and women will be required to properly present the spectacle.

BUSY DAYS AND NIGHTS.

Time of Special Interest to Every Class Aliotted by State Fair Promoters.

Busy hours and minutes are ahead of visitors to the Kentucky State Fair of 1910, which will begin in Louisville on the morning of September 12. The interest of scores of organizations has been enlisted, and every day and every night has been dedicated to some particular group with everybody invited all the time.

Prof. K. Keisker, of Louisville, is general chairman on special days, and many of the organizations made up of farmers.

Wednesday, September 14, will be Louisville Day, with W. O. Head, Mayor of the city, as chairman. It is expected this will be one of the banner days of the fair from an attendance standpoint.

Kentucky Day will be observed on Thursday, September 15. This also will be Press Day and Good Roads Day, with A. D. Miller, of Richmond, president of the Kentucky Press Association, acting as chairman and H. A. Sommers, of Elizabethtown, vice-chairman.

Friday, September 16, has been especially dedicated to Kentucky's neighbors, and will be known as Southern Indiana and Traveling Men's Day. Adam Heimbarger, of New Albany, is chairman, and D. O. Talcott, of Louisville, vice-chairman.

Saturday, September 17, has been put down as Everybody's Day with everybody chairman.

A testimonial to the great work being accomplished by Kentucky club women is evidenced in the dedication of the first night of the fair as Woman's Organization Night. Mrs. Chas. P. Weaver, of Louisville, is chairman. German-American night will be observed on Tuesday, with Louis Sebach, of Louisville, chairman, and the Irish-American citizens of Kentucky will be the special guests of the fair on Wednesday. Joseph J. McEnamott, of Louisville, is chairman for that evening.

Fraternality Night will close the fourth day of the fair, Thursday. Under the chairmanship of R. W. Brown, of Louisville, a monster committee is expected to bring out one of the largest outpourings of fraternal society membership ever seen in the Ohio valley. Friday evening, September 16, has been set aside as Commercial Organizations Night, with Dr. W. B. Gossett, of Louisville, chairman. Parents' Night will close the fair week, Jan. 8. Dorland, of Louisville, being chairman of the occasion.

Natiello's Band at State Fair. Six Ernesto Natiello's famous band has been engaged for the Kentucky State Fair of 1910, and will be heard in two grand concerts each day. There are some sixty musicians in this great organization, which is classed among the most prominent bands in America. Free concerts will be given in a bandstand near the pavilion each afternoon and night, and Natiello and his musicians will also be heard in the horse show and hippodrome performances. In addition, two bands have been engaged to provide music for the races and a number of concert programs during each afternoon and evening.

Hundreds of visitors come to Louisville on the Saturday and Sunday before the opening of the fair, and these a grand treat has been arranged. On Sunday before the opening of the big exhibition two sacred concerts will be given by Natiello's band at the grounds. Last year something like 10,000 persons visited the scene of the fair on the day before the opening, and the fair management decided that Sig. Natiello and his musicians will be here ahead of time. It would be wise to arrange this treat for those who go down to inspect the grounds.

OUR FAIR.

In addition to the county fair that we can all lay claim to as being a part of our possessions, the Kentucky State Fair, at Louisville, Sept. 12-17, belongs to us as much as to any people in the state. Every Kentuckian should regard this as a sense his fair. It represents what is being done all over the state, just as the county fair represents what is being done in each county in the way of agriculture, live stock and general advancement. It is a combination of the various county fairs, not only of Kentucky, but a great many other states, and there are represented at this exhibition live stock, etc., produced in the various states. The state fairs are growing each year and the attendance is increasing, as everyone wants to know what is being done in other parts of the state and country.

Live Stock Judging Contests.

Live stock judging by students and farmer boys will be witnessed at the Kentucky State Fair of 1910. One of the contests is open to all boys of the state. Commissioner of Agriculture M. C. Rankin offers to the winner boys $100 to be used as a scholarship in the agricultural department of the state university for the best written judgment on horses, cattle, sheep and swine exhibited. Another set of prizes, aggregating $50 will be offered to the students of the state university. The sum is divided into five premiums. These specialists are intended to encourage the youth of Kentucky in the science of live stock judging.

For catalogue, entry blanks or any other information regarding the Kentucky State Fair, address J. W. Newman, secretary, 320 Paul Jones Building, Louisville, Ky.

Often The Kidneys Are

Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

Weak and unhealthy kidneys are responsible for much sickness and suffering. Therefore, if kidney trouble is permitted to continue, serious results are most likely to follow. Your other organs may need attention, but your kidneys must, because they do most and should have attention first. Therefore, when your kidneys are well, or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fall to its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. A trial will convince you of its great merit.

The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root, the great kidney and bladder remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest because its remarkable blood restoring properties have been proven in thousands of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, and don't let a dealer sell you something in place of Swamp-Root—if you do you will be disappointed.

Leonard Wood

Reprinted from an article by Theodore Roosevelt in The Outlook, by special arrangement with The Outlook, of which Theodore Roosevelt is Contributing Editor. Copyright, 1910, by The Outlook Company. All Rights Reserved.

Gen. Leonard Wood has just returned from South America to take up his duties as chief of the general staff of the United States army, the highest military position which the service affords.

Nearly 12 years ago, when Leonard Wood was acting as governor of Santiago, I wrote in the Outlook about what he had already achieved, and what he could be trusted to achieve. During the intervening 12 years he has played a very conspicuous part among the men who have rendered signal service to the country by the way in which they have enabled it to grapple with the duties and responsibilities incurred by the Spanish war. What has been accomplished in the Philippines, in Cuba, in Porto Rico, in Panama, and in San Domingo during these 12 years represents a sum of achievement of which this nation has a right to be extremely proud. In each locality the problem has been different, in each locality it has been solved with signal success. Of course there have been mistakes and shortcomings, but on the whole it would be difficult to find anywhere a finer record of successful accomplishment. This record is primarily due to the admirable quality of the men put at the head of affairs in the different places. Messrs. Taft, Luke Wright, Smith and Forbes, Messrs. Hunt, Winters, Post and Cotton, Governor Mangrove, Colonel Goethals—to these and their colleagues and subordinates the country owes a heavy debt of obligation.

Most of those I have mentioned are civilians. Colonel Goethals, under whom the gigantic work of the Panama canal is being accomplished, and who literally astounding rapidity and success, is a representative of the army. The share of the army in the honor roll is very large. The importance of work like that of General Bell in the Philippines, of General Barry in Cuba, can hardly be overestimated; but, as a whole, the work of the army officers, the greatest in amount, and the greatest in variety of achievement, must be credited to General Wood. And, moreover, he has at times combined with singular success the functions of civil administrator and military commander. The part played by the United States in Cuba has been one of the most honorable ever played by any nation in dealing with a weaker power, one of the most satisfactory in its results. To General Wood more than to any other man is due the credit of starting this work and conducting it to a successful conclusion during the most and most difficult years. Like almost all of the men mentioned, as well as their colleagues, General Wood of course incurred the violent attacks of many dishonest schemers and unscrupulous adventurers, and of a few

Other Ways of Greeting Friends That Are Much Preferred to the Accompanying to Writer.

Although a few have suffered the unpleasant experience of the man in the case recently reported, the bones of whose hands were forced out of place by the vice-like grasp of a too vigorous and unduly demonstrative friend, most people who are conversant with their personal recollections to sympathize with this victim of a misdirected ardor. Everyone knows people who seek to express their sincerity and earnestness of their good-will by squeezing the hand they take as though they were trying to break every one of the bones or so of bones which the human hand comprises, and every one on such occasions must have wished that some other form of salutation than the one most in vogue had been devised and were generally practiced.

Shaking hands is a relic of barbarism anyhow. It became the custom in the days when the one carried a dagger in his belt and when one friend meeting another thought it necessary to attest the genuineness of his intentions by extending an open palm. Then the other man could do so less than make a similarly reassuring demonstration and the grasp of the hand was frequently a matter of life and death. Subsequently, by a logical process of evolution the handshake grew to be the conventional form of salutation, and the refusal of a proffered hand was regarded as one of those insults whose dishonor can only be wiped out with blood. Now the custom is too firmly and widely established for its abandonment to be conceivable, and

EVIDENCE IS ALL CIRCUMSTANTIAL

But Lafayette Police Believe They Have a Good Case.

FERRETING MURDER MYSTERY

Death of Wealthy Trapper, Whose Body Was Found in Charred Ruins of His Home Some Months Ago, Is Now Laid at the Door of William Ashby, Who Has Been Held on Suspicion Pending Further Investigation.

Lafayette, Ind., Aug. 5.—William Ashby, the son of a grocer, is now arrested on a charge of murdering Samuel Waddell, a trapper, whose charred body was found in the ruins of an old log cabin nine miles west of here, which was destroyed by fire early in the morning of March 29. How the death of Waddell came about was a mystery, but since his death has been a large sum of money on the case and little by little have accumulated evidence which resulted in Ashby's arrest. Waddell was known to have had a large sum of money on his person the night of the fire. He and Ashby and a man named James Casner were in Lafayette that night and rode out together on the Ashby wagon. Waddell fell from the wagon at a cross-roads and went to his home. According to Ashby's story to the coroner and the grand jury, he continued on home and went to bed.

He and his wife quarreled last week and separated. He later came to the city, became intoxicated and was arrested. The police searched Ashby and found $250 in his clothes. This was a surprise, as Ashby had always been regarded as a poor man. Mrs. Ashby told the officers that she suspected her husband, and a pistol that was found on him is known to have belonged to Waddell. In the ruins of the cabin were found $3,000 in gold and silver. This had been hidden by Waddell, who lived the life of a hermit. The only thing not found was his revolver. He was known to have had $1,000 in paper money on his person that night. According to the state's theory this money was stolen from him and in the excitement he was probably murdered and his cabin set on fire. Ashby denies all knowledge of the crime.

The police are working hard on the case, and while all the evidence so far is circumstantial, they believe they will be able to make a good case against the accused man.

THOSE BUSY NEW YORKERS

How They Drive and Rush and Then Waste Valuable Hours in Idleness.

How they do drive and rush and sweat to be sure, falling over each other, trampling each other down in their mad struggle to get ahead in the pursuit of the round, rolling dollar, just beyond the reach of their grasping claws.

How they run up the stairs of the elevated railroads! How they cannot be persuaded—any of 'em—to wait for the next surface car, but cling pertinaciously to the step and engorge the doorway! How they pack and jam the subway stairs and platforms in a surging mob, shouldering little football players, crushing little children, subduing men and women alike to the most arrant outrages in the intrusion upon each other. How busy, how hurried they are. There is not time enough in the day for them; they are driven by whips of worse than scorpions, and they leap and run and scourage, breathless and panting, in their strife for precedence, the New York Evening Sun says.

And yet—several thousand persons, men, women and boys, on their hurried way to their frantic toil recently, stopped for an hour or two, and came to gaze at the empty air in front of the city hall, because it had been advertised that a man would start some time today from that spot and sail for California. It is heaven's mercy that no cat happened to get up a tree anywhere in town last night, nor any dog was heard yelping at a closed window, nor any bird with a broken wing was to be seen anywhere, nor any man started to mend a chimney or a lofty flagstaff. If any or all of these tremendous cataclysms had occurred at the same time with the pedestrian's departure half the working population of New York might have been smitten motionless, and stood staring for hours in the effort to quench their magnificent curiosity.

Beautiful Building Lots in Cloverport

On the hill, high and dry on Elm Street, the beautiful sub-division will be opened up and laid off into building lots and sold at Public Auction, Saturday, Aug. 27th

This is an opportunity that may never be offered again. To the man that wants to start a home now is your chance. To the speculator, now is your opportunity; lots bought in this addition will double in value in a short time. In buying this property you see what you get and don't send your money away out West and invest it in prairie lots, when the chances are it will only be inhabited by Prairie Dogs.

This property is well located in a neighborhood of elegant, refined and cultured people. Close to schools, churches, business, depot and river. With its location and accessibility it offers an opportunity to investors and to people wanting beautiful home sites and the advantages of a first-class town.

Cloverport is bound to grow with its Shops, Factories, Foundry and Solid Banking and Business Institutions, you can't keep it from growing. Terms will be One-third cash, balance in 6 and 12 months. Look for our ad in next week's paper for further particulars.
